PET or PETE, is the most commonly recycled type of plastic in the US. Its recycling rate goes up to 29% for 2010. (NAPCOR).*

Biodegradable products will break down into water, carbon dioxide, and biomass in a reasonable amount of time under industrial composting conditions. Compostable means that the product will completely break down into carbon dioxide, water under specific conditions. A compostable product will not contaminate the environment and not reduce the value of the finished compost.*
